Faculty Salaries in FAEIS

In 2008 the FAEIS Office received numerous requests for faculty salary reports. Many of the requests were related to searches and competitive offers for new department heads and college administrators.

We are able to respond to these requests almost instantly, and usually the final results are sent within a day.

The annual Faculty Surveys are a valuable resource that YOU may need some day.

In the last survey (2007) we received data for close to 10,000 faculty in the academic areas covered by FAEIS.

We know it can be a challenge to complete the FAEIS surveys. We are constantly improving the FAEIS websites to make it easier to use and to enter your survey data. If you prefer, we can send your surveys in spreadsheets which you send back to us for entering the data.

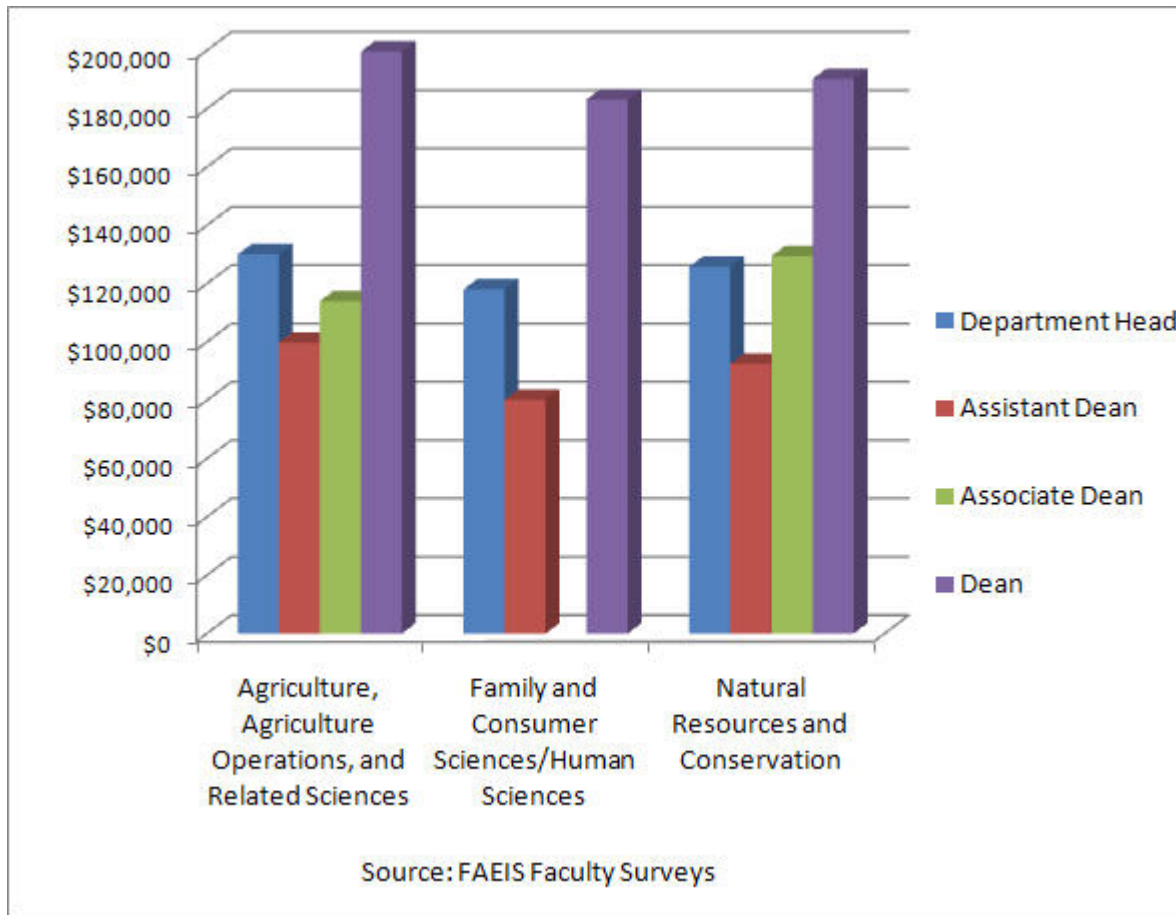

If you have not contributed to the Faculty Survey in the past, please re-consider. Maybe start with your administrators and department heads this year. You never know when you will need a report from FAEIS. You can be certain that your colleagues will, and you need to be counted!

THANK YOU!

Average Salaries of Administrative Faculty

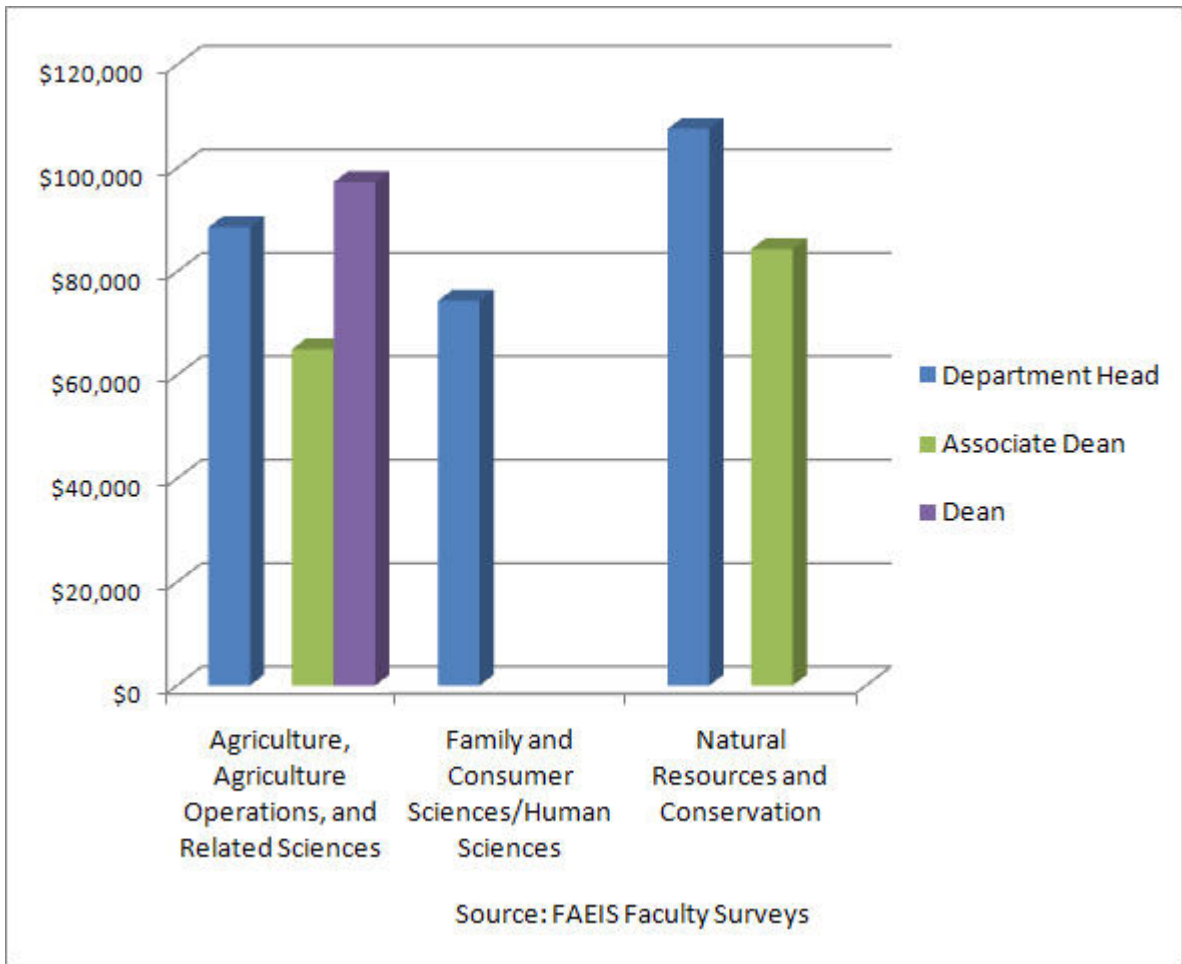

The following tables demonstrate some of the data available from the FAEIS faculty surveys. All data are from 2007. The first set of three charts show the average salaries of administrative faculty by institution type (1862 and 1890 Land-Grant, and Non-Land-Grant). The last set of two pie charts show percentage and numbers of faculty by program area and by academic rank.

Changes in the CSREES SERD Higher Education Unit

We are sorry to report that Ms. Ella Smith, Education Research Analyst in the Higher Education Unit and the key liaison with the FAEIS Team at Virginia Tech is departing for a new position. She has served in that role for over five years and will be sorely missed. Since the departure of Jeff Gilmore as Director of Higher Education Programs, Greg Smith, National Program Leader for Science and Education Resources Development has been serving as the Interim Director. Greg recently announced that the search for Jeff's Gilmore's replacement has been initiated.
